The work "Analyzing Casual Conversation" by Suzanne Eggins and Diana Slade, originally published in 1997, establishes a methodical model for the study and depiction of casual conversation in English. The scholars argue that in spite of its at times aimless look and ostensibly unstructured substance, casual conversation is a very structured activity and has a vital part in the social formation of reality. The publication goes through genuine examples of casual conversations including participants differing in age, gender, ethnicity, and socio-economic class¹². Drawing on insights from sociology, linguistics, and critical semiotics, the publication provides readers with the analytic skills to describe the layers of structure and critical interpretive structures to clarify the 'social work' that occurs on through chat.
