The Work of Writing

2001 Elizabeth Rankin Professional and academic writing is often seen as dull, dry, and as boring to write as it is to read. In The Work of Writing, Rankin challenges these assumptions by encouraging the professional writer to develop a strong writing voice and become fully engaged with the writing process, thus producing written work that is lively and engaging. This book will give academic practitioners and other professionals critical help in determining what to write, how to write it, and how to position their written works successfully for the markets they wish to reach. Rather than a style manual, The Work of Writing focuses on the thinking, strategizing, and decision making that goes on in the heads of academic and professional writers. In doing so, it deals with the complex issues of purpose, audience, genre, and voice that all writers face. Drawing on collective experience of academic and professional readers as well as writers, Rankin offers a framework to help writers think about their writing in realistic, practical, and productive ways. The book offers specific examples and "real-life" scenarios that are familiar to all academic writers--and by extension, to practicing professionals as well.

2012-10-13 Adrian Wallwork This book is based on a study of referees' reports and letters from journal editors on reasons why papers written by non-native researchers are rejected due to problems with English (long sentences, redundancy, poor structure etc). It draws on English-related errors from around 5000 papers written by non-native authors, around 3000 emails, 500 abstracts by PhD students, and over 1000 hours of teaching researchers how to write and present research papers. The exercises are organized into ten chapters on: punctuation and spelling word order writing short sentences and paragraphs link words - connecting phrases and sentences together being concise and removing redundancy ambiguity and political correctness paraphrasing and avoiding plagiarism defining, comparing, evaluating and highlighting anticipating possible objections, indicating level of certainty, discussion limitations, hedging, future work writing each section of a paper Some exercises require no actual writing but simply choosing between various options, thus facilitating self-study, e-reading and rapid progress. In those exercises where extended writing is required, model answers are given. Exercise types are repeated for different contexts, for example the importance of being concise is tested for use in papers, referees' reports, and emails of various types. Such repetition of similar types of exercises is designed to facilitate revision. The exercises can also be integrated into English for Academic Purposes (EAP) and English for Special Purposes (ESP) courses at universities and research institutes. #### First Love that Never Fades

Anna could never forget her first love, Leo. Their paths had crossed when they were both 16, at a idyllic summer camp. They were utterly smitten, spending every day laughing, exchanging heartfelt thoughts, and experiencing the thrill of first love. Their bond was unbreakable, and they vowed to keep in touch, to remain faithful, and to love each other forever. But life, as it often does, had other arrangements in store for them. They lost track of each other, they moved on with their lives, and they eventually married other people. Years passed, and the whirlwind of life took them in different directions. But fate, it seems, had not forgotten their unwavering connection. At a chance encounter, at a sentimental reunion, their paths crossed once again. The moment they laid eyes on each other, the spark of their connection rekindled. The same electric spark that had drawn them together years ago was still potent. They felt the same thrill that had fueled their teenage romance, but they also felt the burden of their past. Their souls ached for the unwavering devotion they had shared, but their minds grappled with the challenges of their current lives. They were caught in a tug-of-war, torn between the passion of their past and the comfort and familiarity of their present. They stood at a crossroads, forced to make a life-altering choice. Would they choose the all-consuming passion of their first love, risking the uncertainty that lay ahead, or would they hold onto the stability of their current lives, forever wondering what could have been? Only time would tell if their unwavering connection would survive the test of time.
