Eva had always been intrigued by the realm of magic, but she never imagined that she would uncover her own witchcraft. She had spent her childhood in a normal family, living in a unassuming town, devoid of any signs of the supernatural. However, on her sixteenth birthday, her life took an unexpected turn. A intriguing package arrived, sent by her grandmother, who had left this world years ago. Within the package lay an ancient leather-bound book, its cover adorned with the inscription, "The Book of Shadows". As Eva opened the book, a wave of energy coursed through her veins. She realized that the book held the secrets of her familys magical lineage, and that she was the last descendant of a long line of formidable witches. But she also discovered that she was not alone. There were others like her, individuals who possessed similar abilities, and some of them sought to wield their magic for evil purposes. Eva faced a pivotal decision: embrace her destiny as a witch and delve into the world of sorcery, or reject her newfound powers and continue living her life as she had always known it. Regardless of her choice, she knew that her life would forever be altered from that moment forward.

The book "Analyzing Casual Conversation" by Suzanne Eggins and Diana Slade, first issued in 1997, creates a organized model for the analysis and description of casual conversation in English. The writers assert that notwithstanding its occasionally aimless look and apparently unstructured substance, casual conversation is a extremely structured task and has a vital role in the social construction of reality. The work works through authentic samples of casual conversations involving participants differing in age, gender, ethnicity, and socio-economic class<sup>12</sup>. Pulling on insights from sociology, linguistics, and critical semiotics, the work equips readers with the examinative skills to portray the levels of structure and critical interpretive frameworks to elucidate the 'social work' that happens on through chat.
