The work "Analyzing Casual Conversation" by Suzanne Eggins and Diana Slade, first published in 1997, creates a systematic model for the analysis and depiction of casual conversation in English. The authors argue that in spite of its occasionally aimless look and ostensibly unstructured substance, casual conversation is an extremely structured activity and plays a crucial part in the social building of reality. The book goes through authentic samples of casual conversations involving participants differing in age, gender, ethnicity, and socio-economic class<sup>12</sup>. Drawing on understandings from sociology, linguistics, and critical semiotics, the publication furnishes readers with the examinative skills to describe the strata of structure and critical interpretive structures to explain the 'social work' that happens on through chat.
