Journey of a Thousand Miles

He was exhausted of his existence. He was uninterested, depressed, and unfulfilled. He had a work he despised, a boss he abhorred, and a girlfriend he didn't cherish. He had no zeal, no aim, no meaning. He felt like he was wasting his moment, his possibility, his being. He wanted to alter, he wished to flee, he wished to survive. He chose to leave his employment, to split up with his significant other, to get rid of his belongings, and to acquire a single pass to the opposite end of the earth. He didn't know where he was going, he didn't know what he was doing, he didn't realize what he was seeking. He only knew that he had to depart, that he had to investigate, that he had to discover. He started on a trip of a thousand kilometers, a trip of adventure, of obstacle, of knowledge, of development, of alteration.

The chapter starts with a discussion on the properties of groups and periodic groups, explaining how Russian chemist Dmitri Mendeleev arranged elements by their weight in increasing order. It then dives into the idea of valence electrons and levels of energy of atoms, highlighting the part of valence electrons in chemical reactions and transformations to atoms and molecules.

The chapter further separates between transition elements and main elements, expounding on their characteristics and traits. It also describes the idea of ionization energy and its trends among groupings and periodic groups on the table of elements. The chapter converses about atomic and ionic, and how these can be forecasted based on an atom's place on the table of elements.

The concept of electronegativity, which quantifies an element's inclination to attract a pair of bonding electrons, is another crucial topic addressed in this part. The chapter concludes with a dialogue on the diagonal relationship, metallic character, and point of boiling of elements.
