The book "Analyzing Casual Conversation" by Suzanne Egging and Diana Slade, first published in 1997, creates a methodical model for the examination and portrayal of casual conversation in English. The authors argue that in spite of its at times aimless appearance and seemingly unstructured content, casual conversation is a very structured task and performs a crucial part in the social formation of reality. The publication goes through real instances of casual conversations involving participants differing in age, gender, ethnicity, and socio-economic class. Deriving on understandings from sociology, linguistics, and critical semiotics, the work provides readers with the examinative skills to portray the levels of structure and critical interpretive structures to clarify the 'social work' that occurs on through chat.
