The publication "Analyzing Casual Conversation" by Suzanne Eggs and Diana Slade, first published in 1997, establishes a organized model for the examination and description of casual conversation in English. The writers assert that notwithstanding its occasionally aimless seeming and ostensibly unstructured substance, casual conversation is a very structured task and performs a vital part in the social construction of reality. The work goes through real examples of casual conversations involving participants differing in age, gender, ethnicity, and socio-economic class¹². Deriving on insights from sociology, linguistics, and critical semiotics, the publication equips readers with the analytic skills to depict the levels of structure and critical interpretive frameworks to elucidate the 'social work' that occurs on through chat.
