The writers argue that despite its occasionally aimless seeming and apparently unstructured material, casual conversation is a very structured task and plays a vital function in the social formation of reality. The publication proceeds through real instances of casual conversations entailing participants differing in age, gender, ethnicity, and socio-economic class¹². Drawing on understandings from sociology, linguistics, and critical semiotics, the work provides readers with the examinative skills to depict the strata of structure and critical interpretive models to explain the 'social work' that happens on through chat.
