The Hidden Art of Interviewing People

2007-06-13 Neil McPhee There is growing interest in the use of Neuro Linguistic Programming (NLP) as a Qualitative Market Research technique. NLP was previously used in psychology to understand how people think and react, and as a tool in self-development, interpersonal skills and business, looking at how our brains think and experience the world. Qualitative Market research experts now see that using NLP can help the researchers understand the human brain and, armed with this power, they can find out the truth from interviewees. The Hidden Art of Interviewing People shows how, by using NLP and related techniques in interviews, the market researcher can see beyond the obvious to the truth.

The Mystery of the Missing Diamond

It was a dark and stormy night. The rain was pouring down, and the wind was howling. In the middle of the city, there was a museum, where a priceless diamond was on display. The diamond was called the Star of Africa, and it was the largest and most beautiful diamond in the world. It was guarded by a high-tech security system, and a team of armed guards. No one could steal it, or so they thought. But someone did. Someone managed to bypass the security, to evade the guards, to break the glass, and to take the diamond. And no one saw them, no one heard them, no one knew who they were. They left no trace, no clue, no evidence. They vanished into the night, with the Star of Africa. And the mystery of the missing diamond began.

The Journey of a Thousand Miles

He was tired of his life. He was bored, unhappy, and unfulfilled. He had a job he hated, a boss he despised, and a girlfriend he didn't love. He had no passion, no purpose, no meaning. He felt like he was wasting his time, his potential, his existence. He wanted to change, he wanted to escape, he wanted to live. He decided to quit his job, to break up with his girlfriend, to sell his belongings, and to buy a one-way ticket to the other side of the world. He didn't know where he was going, he didn't know what he was doing, he didn't know what he was looking for. He only knew that he had to go, that he had to explore, that he had to discover. He embarked on a journey of a thousand miles, a journey of adventure, of challenge, of learning, of growth, of transformation.
