The work "Analyzing Casual Conversation" by Suzanne Eggins and Diana Slade, originally released in 1997, creates a systematic model for the examination and depiction of casual conversation in English. The authors argue that notwithstanding its at times aimless appearance and seemingly unstructured material, casual conversation is a extremely structured task and has a crucial function in the social formation of reality. The work proceeds through real samples of casual conversations including participants diverging in age, gender, ethnicity, and socio-economic class¹². Pulling on understandings from sociology, linguistics, and critical semiotics, the work equips readers with the examinative skills to describe the strata of structure and critical interpretive structures to explain the 'social work' that occurs on through chat.
