The publication "Analyzing Casual Conversation" by Suzanne Eggins and Diana Slade, originally published in 1997, creates a organized model for the examination and portrayal of casual conversation in English. The writers contend that despite its sometimes aimless look and ostensibly unstructured content, casual conversation is an extremely structured undertaking and plays a vital part in the social construction of reality. The work works through authentic samples of casual conversations including participants differing in age, gender, ethnicity, and socio-economic class<sup>12</sup>. Drawing on perspectives from sociology, linguistics, and critical semiotics, the publication furnishes readers with the examinative skills to describe the strata of structure and critical interpretive models to elucidate the 'social work' that goes on through chat.
