The Peabody Picture Vocabulary Test Fourth Edition (PPVT-4) is a well-respected vocabulary assessment that has been in operation for almost half a century. Created by Lloyd M. Dunn and Douglas M. Dunn, the test is made to measure receptive vocabulary for American English. It is quick and easy to conduct, preserving precious time so that focus can be placed on implementing effective approaches.

The PPVT-4 evaluation content covers an extensive array of vocabulary comprehension levels, spanning from pre-kindergarten through adult age. The assessment items widely include words that portray 20 subject areas (e.g., actions, vegetables, tools), parts of speech (nouns, verbs, attributes), and home and educational vocabulary.

The evaluation offers two equal versions which contain various vocabulary items, ensuring that the person has not “learned” the test. One version can be used before intervention implementation to measure test-takers' vocabulary understanding and the alternative version can be used for re-testing to assess and document improvement. The PPVT-4 also contains a special Growth Scale Value (GSV) which is reactive to small changes with time.

The work “Analyzing Casual Conversation” by Suzanne Eggins and Diana Slade, originally published in 1997, develops a systematic model for the examination and depiction of casual conversation in English. The authors argue that in spite of its occasionally aimless seeming and ostensibly unstructured substance, casual conversation is a very structured task and plays a vital part in the social building of reality. The work works through genuine instances of casual conversations entailing participants differing in age, gender, ethnicity, and socio-economic class¹². Pulling on understandings from sociology, linguistics, and critical semiotics, the publication furnishes readers with the examinative skills to depict the levels of structure and critical interpretive models to clarify the ‘social work’ that happens on through chat.
