It was the year 23, and the globe was at the edge of war. The USA and Peoples Republic of China, the pair of world powers, were engaged in an intense rivalry, vying for supplies, dominance, and control. They had both developed sophisticated weapons, such as laser weapons, unmanned aerial vehicles, and spacecrafts, that could hit any location, any time. They had also covertly established space stations, which could fire atomic weapons, which can annihilate the planet. They were prepared to utilize them, if required. But they were the sole ones. There existed a 3rd force, a secret entity, which had been watching them, waiting for them both, getting ready for them both. They were aliens, and they had come to stop them. They had come to protect the earth, or to finish it all. They had come to initiate the star wars which changed history.

The book "Analyzing Casual Conversation" by Suzanne Eggins and Diana Slade, first released in 1997, establishes a organized model for the study and description of casual conversation in English. The writers argue that in spite of its sometimes aimless seeming and ostensibly unstructured substance, casual conversation is a very structured activity and plays a crucial role in the social formation of reality. The work goes through authentic instances of casual conversations involving participants diverging in age, gender, ethnicity, and socio-economic class<sup>12</sup>. Pulling on perspectives from sociology, linguistics, and critical semiotics, the work equips readers with the analytical skills to portray the layers of structure and critical interpretive frameworks to explain the 'social work' that occurs on through chat.
