The writers contend that in spite of its at times aimless appearance and seemingly unstructured content, casual conversation is a very structured task and plays a critical function in the social building of reality. The work works through genuine examples of casual conversations involving participants varying in age, gender, ethnicity, and socio-economic class². Deriving on perspectives from sociology, linguistics, and critical semiotics, the work provides readers with the analytical skills to describe the levels of structure and critical interpretive models to explain the 'social work' that goes on through chat.
