The chapter starts with a discussion on the properties of groupings and periods, elucidating how Russian chemist Mendeleev arranged elements by their atomic weight in increasing order. It then explores the concept of outer electrons and energy levels of atoms, underscoring the part of valence electrons in chemical reactions and transformations to atomic structures and molecular structures.

The chapter further separates between transition elements and main elements, expounding on their properties and characteristics. It also describes the idea of energy of ionization and its trends among groups and periodic groups on the table of elements.
