The publication “Analyzing Casual Conversation” by Suzanne Eggins and Diana Slade, first issued in 1997, develops a systematic model for the analysis and portrayal of casual conversation in English. The authors contend that despite its occasionally aimless look and ostensibly unstructured content, casual conversation is a extremely structured activity and has a crucial role in the social building of reality. The book goes through genuine instances of casual conversations involving participants diverging in age, gender, ethnicity, and socio-economic class12. Pulling on insights from sociology, linguistics, and critical semiotics, the publication equips readers with the examinative skills to depict the levels of structure and critical interpretive models to explain the ‘social work’ that goes on through chat.
