The Public Health Effects of Food Deserts 2009-07-02 National Research Council In the United States, people living in low-income neighborhoods frequently do not have access to affordable healthy food venues, such as supermarkets. Instead, those living in "food deserts" must rely on convenience stores and small neighborhood stores that offer few, if any, healthy food choices, such as fruits and vegetables. The Institute of Medicine (IOM) and National Research Council (NRC) convened a two-day workshop on January 26-27, 2009, to provide input into a Congressionally-mandated food deserts study by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Economic Research Service. The workshop, summarized in this volume, provided a forum in which to discuss the public health effects of food deserts.

Running a Food Hub: Volume Two, a Business Operations Guide 2015-09-17 James Matson This report is part of a multi-volume technical report series entitled, Running a Food Hub, with this guide serving as a companion piece to other United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) reports by providing in-depth guidance on starting and running a food hub enterprise. In order to compile the most current information on best management and operations practices, the authors used published information on food hubs, surveyed numerous operating food hubs, and pulled from their existing experience and knowledge of working directly with food hubs across the country as an agricultural business consulting firm. The report's main focus is on the operational issues faced by food hubs, including choosing an organizational structure, choosing a location, deciding on infrastructure and equipment, logistics and transportation, human resources, and risks. As such, the guide explores the different decision points associated with the organizational steps for starting and implementing a food hub. For some sections, sidebars provide "decision points," which food hub managers will need to address to make key operational decisions. This illustrated guide may assist the operational staff at small businesses or third-party organizations that may provide aggregation, marketing, and distribution services from local and regional producers to assist with wholesale, retail, and institution demand at government institutions, colleges/universities, restaurants, grocery store chains, etc. Undergraduate students pursuing coursework for a bachelor of science degree in food science, or agricultural economics may be interested in this guide. Additionally, this reference work will be helpful to small businesses within the food trade discipline.

Eat Fit. Business Plan for a Fitness Restaurant in Stuttgart City 2019-11-04 Adam Liskar Seminar paper from the year 2017 in the subject Business economics - Company formation, Business Plans, grade: 2.0, University of Applied Sciences München, language: English, abstract: This paper proposes a business plan for the Fitness Restaurant "Eat Fit" in Stuttgart. In the concept of Eat-fit The USP (unique selling proposition) clearly refers to the offer for the primary target group, sportsmen and nutritionally conscious people. Their loyalty to our restaurant as repeat customers is the top priority. Through this approach, the restaurant has a clear competitive advantage that is reflected in this unique service and offer for those affected. The restaurant is run in the legal form of a GBR. Low form requirements and the corresponding design friendliness are the main advantages of this legal form, which make it possible to make adjustments and changes afterwards. With the provision of 30,000 euros in equity in the company, in the first year 2018 a further demand of 60,000 euros is left, which is to be covered by a loan. When searching for a suitable location, the city of Stuttgart is a choice that fully meets the requirements for such a restaurant. It has the highest population density in the region and is one of the major cities of Germany and is popular with tourists. The restaurant should be close to at least one gym, and also centrally located in the city centre. The first fitness restaurant in Stuttgart can be expected to be an emerging competition. The marketing strategies for the Eat-fit are derived from results of competitive analyses. Due to the high competition in the gastronomy sector and the initial unfamiliarity, the market penetration in the introductory phase is to be carried out on the basis of the strategy of fast market exhaustion. One of the main tasks of the company is the formation of a trust relationship with the targeted customer base. The fitness industry has enjoyed a strong reputation by many people for quite some time, and because of this the interest in healthy eating has grown. However nowadays, many health-conscious people are unable to visit certain restaurants due to their food preparation not being focused on the nutritional content of the food. "Eat- fit" is the concept to of building a restaurant that is established as a service quality leader of high-quality and nutrient-rich food especially for sportsmen, gym goers and nutritionally conscious people in gastronomy.

Report of the Mid Staffordshire NHS Foundation Trust Public Inquiry 2013-02-06 Mid Staffordshire NHS Foundation Trust Public Inquiry This public inquiry report into serious failings in healthcare that took place at the Mid Staffordshire NHS Foundation Trust builds on the first independent report published in February 2010 (ISBN 9780102964394). It further examines the suffering of patients caused by failures by the Trust: there was a failure to listen to its patients and staff or ensure correction of deficiencies. There was also a failure to tackle the insidious negative culture involving poor standards and a disengagement from managerial and leadership responsibilities. These failures are in part a consequence of allowing a focus on reaching national access targets, achieving financial balance and seeking foundation trust status at the cost of delivering acceptable care standards. Further, the checks and balances that operate within the NHS system should have prevented the serious systemic failure that developed at Mid Staffs. The system failed in its primary duty to protect patients and maintain confidence in the healthcare system. This report identifies numerous warning signs that could and should have alerted the system to problems developing at the Trust. It also sets out 290 recommendations grouped around: (i) putting the patient first; (ii) developing a set of fundamental standards, easily understood and accepted by patients; (iii) providing professionally endorsed and evidence-based means of compliance of standards that are understood and adopted by staff; (iv) ensuring openness, transparency and candour throughout system; (v) policing of these standards by the healthcare regulator; (vi) making all those who provide care for patients, properly accountable; (vii) enhancing recruitment, education, training and support of all key contributors to the provision of healthcare; (viii) developing and sharing ever improving means of measuring and understanding the performance of individual professionals, teams, units and provider organisations for the patients, the public, and other stakeholders.
