The work "Analyzing Casual Conversation" by Suzanne Eggins and Diana Slade, originally published in 1997, establishes a systematic model for the analysis and description of casual conversation in English. The authors contend that notwithstanding its at times aimless look and seemingly unstructured material, casual conversation is a very structured undertaking and performs a crucial role in the social construction of reality. The publication goes through genuine examples of casual conversations involving participants diverging in age, gender, ethnicity, and socio-economic class<sup>12</sup>. Drawing on insights from sociology, linguistics, and critical semiotics, the work furnishes readers with the examinative skills to portray the strata of structure and critical interpretive structures to elucidate the ‘social work’ that occurs on through chat.
