Conveyancing

2008 Gabriel Brennan Conveyancing is designed for law students and new lawyers studying applied land law on the Irish Professional Practice Course. As the fourth edition is published at a time when major reform and modernisation of land law and conveyancing is proposed, the text has been fully revised and updated to include reference to proposed reforms, recently published bills and new legislation enacted. This includes new coverage on the Land Act 2005, the Title Act 2006 and the fundamental changes proposed by the Land and Conveyancing Law Reform Bill 2006. In two volumes, the fourth edition also features updated sample documentation and precedents to enable students to consider the procedural aspects of conveyancing. It includes complete coverage of all the essential knowledge needed when practicing conveyancing, including the legal concept of property, and the protection, acquisition and movement of proprietary interests. The principles of conveyancing practice are clearly explained, ensuring that this is an essential text for apprentices and practitioners in this field.

Contemporary Issues in Management

2014-06-27 Lindsay Hamilton This book is for upper-level students, managers and academics who are interested in exploring the Šmessy reality of the contemporary workplace and in considering how things might be done differently. In particular, it offers a critical perspective on

Marketing Research

2009 Jan Wiid Written for introductory marketing classes, this text explains what information is needed to plan and implement a successful marketing campaign and how to find that data. Including details on finding such relevant facts as the size of a potential market, the shopping and buying habits of consumers in that market, and the competitive and environmental factors that may affect a campaign, this primer will guide readers to become savvy marketing managers.

ADVANCED FINANCIAL MANAGEMENT

FOLORUNSHO MEJABI

Introduction to International Commercial and European Law

2015 M.W. Mosselman This book covers the most important legal issues when conducting business abroad. The first part covers European law with a focus on the institutions of the European Union, the four freedoms and competition law. The second part focuses on individual international contracts. This part starts with the legal environment of the business transaction. The political and policy risks of doing business abroad are explained, as well as how they should be addressed. It continues with entry strategies in foreign markets and then goes on to focus on the individual contract of sale. A wide range of subjects are covered, including general conditions of sale, retention of title, the CISG, product safety and product liability, Incoterms, contract of carriage, jurisdiction, choice of law and arbitration, standard contract clauses and payment conditions. This book takes a practical approach and contains examples and exercises. The book does not pretend to be the ultimate guide: the field of international commercial law in particular is vast, and has many different angels. However, it does try to explain the main pitfalls of doing business in foreign countries and how to avoid them.

General Principles of Commercial Law

2007 Peter Havenga This book have been written by experienced lecturers in commercial law in the Department of Mercantile Law at the University of South Africa. It provides non-law students with a succinct exposition of the general principles of commercial law. The selection of topics was influenced by the syllabus of the Independent Regulatory Board for Auditors for the law service course, as well as the syllabus for basic law courses of the Institute of Bankers.

Corporate Citizenship

2017-01-15 Alfred Bimha Corporate citizenship is a prominent international issue as contemporary corporations are no longer expected to perform financially, but are also expected to have an ethical relationship of responsibility between the corporate itself and the society in which it operates and performs it business activities. Provides an up-to-date theoretical content pertaining to corporate citizenship, providing local and global examples and case studies.

Communication and Media Ethics

2018-09-10 Patrick Lee Plaisance Ethics in communication and media has arguably reached a pivotal stage of maturity in the last decade, moving from disparate lines of inquiry to a theory-driven, interdisciplinary field presenting normative frameworks and philosophical explications for communicative practices. The intent of this volume is to present this maturation, to reflect the vibrant state of ethics theorizing and to illuminate promising pathways for future research.

Introduction to Business Information Systems

2003-05-21 Rolf T. Wigand After describing the functions of the PC and the role of computers in local and global networks, the authors explain the fundamentals of data management, as well as the support of firms' functions and processes through information processing. The concepts utilized are deployed in a multitude of modern and integrated application systems in manufacturing and service industries. These application examples make up the core of the book. Many application examples illustrate the methodologies addressed.

Rise and Fall of a Pop Star

She had a dream. She wanted to be a singer. She wished to entertain, to groove, to entertain, to delight. She desired to be well-known, to be loved, to be idolized. She desired to have it all, recognition, riches, glory. She labored tirelessly, she trained, she performed, she amazed. She got a deal, a music contract, a agent, a director. She made an album, a smash, a phenomenon. She became a celebrity, a celebrity, a marvel. She had it all, fans, wealth, accolades. She was on cloud nine, she was living her dream. But she also had a hidden side. She had a mystery, a dilemma, an dependency. She started to spiral out of control, to make mistakes, to stir up trouble. She faced criticism, fallout, legal actions. She gave up her followers, her wealth, her accolades. She lost her status, she became a laughingstock, a disaster. She gave up it all, her recognition, her riches, her prestige. She was the ascent and fall of a pop star.

It was a dark and tempestuous night. The drizzle was pouring down, and the wind was whistling. In the heart of the town, there was a museum, where a invaluable diamond was on show. The diamond was named the Star of Africa, and it was the largest and most stunning diamond in the earth. It was protected by a advanced security mechanism, and a team of weaponized guards. No one could steal it, or so they believed. But somebody did. Someone succeeded to bypass the safeguard, to avoid the watchmen, to break the pane, and to take the diamond. And no one noticed them, no one listened to them, no one identified who they were. They exited no sign, no lead, no testimony. They vanished into the darkness, with the Star of Africa. And the enigma of the missing diamond began.

Anna could never forget her first love, Leo. Their paths had crossed when they were both 16, at a magical summer camp. They were utterly smitten, spending every day exchanging lighthearted banter, engaging in deep conversations, and sharing stolen kisses. Their bond was unbreakable, and they vowed to keep in touch, to cherish their connection, and to never let their love fade. But life, as it often does, had other arrangements in store for them. They lost contact, they moved on with their lives, and they eventually married other people. Years passed, and the whirlwind of life took them in different directions. But fate, it seems, had not forgotten their unbreakable connection. At a chance encounter, at a long-awaited reunion, their paths crossed once again. The moment they laid eyes on each other, the spark of their connection rekindled. The same electric spark that had drawn them together years ago was still potent. They felt the same joy that had fueled their teenage romance, but they also felt the reality of their present. Their souls ached for the unconditional love they had shared, but their minds grappled with the tangled web of their current lives. They were caught in a tug-of-war, torn between the alluring memories of their first love and the complications of their present. They stood at a critical juncture, forced to make a difficult choice. Would they choose the intense connection of their first love, risking the unknown that lay ahead, or would they hold onto the predictability of their current lives, forever wondering what could have been? Only time would tell if their unbreakable bond would find a way to prevail.
