The book "Analyzing Casual Conversation" by Suzanne Eggins and Diana Slade, originally issued in 1997, develops a methodical model for the analysis and portrayal of casual conversation in English. The authors contend that in spite of its occasionally aimless appearance and apparently unstructured material, casual conversation is an extremely structured activity and has a crucial part in the social building of reality. The work works through real examples of casual conversations including participants varying in age, gender, ethnicity, and socio-economic class. Pulling on understandings from sociology, linguistics, and critical semiotics, the work provides readers with the examinative skills to portray the strata of structure and critical interpretive structures to clarify the 'social work' that occurs on through chat.

Alice was perpetually intrigued by the timeworn mansion perched at the end of the street. Stories of its mysterious owner, who never ventured out of his secluded abode, had always piqued her curiosity. Whispers circulated about his identity, ranging from a recluse to a prodigy or even an eccentric, depending on the source. Alice yearned to unravel the truth behind these tales and uncover the secrets concealed within the bolted door on the second floor. Driven by an irresistible urge to delve into the mansions mysteries, Alice embarked on a audacious escapade. With a heart pounding with a mix of anticipation, she discreetly ventured into the mansions grounds, her senses heightened as she approached the restricted door on the second floor. Standing before the threshold, her hand trembling slightly as she reached for the doorknob, Alice braced herself for the revelations that awaited her beyond. With a deep breath, she turned the knob, the door creaking open to unveil a sight that would forever alter her perception of the world.
