The publication "Analyzing Casual Conversation" by Suzanne Egging and Diana Slade, first issued in 1997, establishes a systematic model for the study and portrayal of casual conversation in English. The writers argue that in spite of its occasionally aimless look and seemingly unstructured substance, casual conversation is a very structured task and plays a crucial role in the social building of reality. The work works through genuine samples of casual conversations including participants varying in age, gender, ethnicity, and socio-economic class<sup>12</sup>. Drawing on perspectives from sociology, linguistics, and critical semiotics, the work furnishes readers with the analytic skills to portray the levels of structure and critical interpretive models to elucidate the 'social work' that happens on through chat.
