The writers argue that in spite of its occasionally aimless appearance and ostensibly unstructured content, casual conversation is an extremely structured task and plays a crucial function in the social formation of reality. The work goes through authentic samples of casual conversations involving participants diverging in age, gender, ethnicity, and socio-economic class. Drawing on insights from sociology, linguistics, and critical semiotics, the book provides readers with the examinative skills to describe the levels of structure and critical interpretive models to clarify the 'social work' that goes on through chat.
