The book “Analyzing Casual Conversation” by Suzanne Eggins and Diana Slade, first released in 1997, establishes a systematic model for the analysis and depiction of casual conversation in English. The scholars assert that in spite of its occasionally aimless look and ostensibly unstructured material, casual conversation is a very structured task and has a vital function in the social construction of reality. The book works through real instances of casual conversations including participants differing in age, gender, ethnicity, and socio-economic class<sup>12</sup>. Drawing on understandings from sociology, linguistics, and critical semiotics, the publication provides readers with the analytical skills to describe the layers of structure and critical interpretive models to clarify the ‘social work’ that occurs on through chat.
