The publication "Analyzing Casual Conversation" by Suzanne Eggins and Diana Slade, first issued in 1997, establishes a systematic model for the examination and description of casual conversation in English. The scholars argue that notwithstanding its at times aimless seeming and seemingly unstructured material, casual conversation is a highly structured task and performs a crucial part in the social building of reality. The book goes through authentic instances of casual conversations entailing participants varying in age, gender, ethnicity, and socio-economic class¹². Deriving on insights from sociology, linguistics, and critical semiotics, the publication provides readers with the analytical skills to portray the strata of structure and critical interpretive structures to elucidate the 'social work' that goes on through chat.
