crazy? This book can help. Insurance companies are supposed to be here to help us, and in many cases, they do. Each year, insurance companies in the UK pay out over 32 billion to families who have faced burglary, fire damage, flooding, terrorism, and other tragedies. However, because they don't understand how to file properly, thousands of these households don't receive the value they deserve from their insurance company. You can't blame them: despite how important this knowledge is, we're never taught the right way to work with insurance companies. In "Win the Claim

2010-09-02 My sincere and heartfelt motivation for writing this book has risen out of and because of the stressful economic conditions facing individuals and families of today. The last twenty years of my life have been devoted to serving clients as their insurance agent. I have worked to match needs and wants with the financial budgets that were before us and available at the time. However, I have come to realize and witness that the industry I love, worked in, and was educated in is one of many industries that are causing today. The vision I have for this book is to help equip you as a consumer before purchasing any and all types of insurance. I don't intend to make you an expert, but I do intend on sharing with you the knowledge I have gained over the last twenty-four years. My intention for the book is to be an easy read with thought-provoking questions. I have included the questions for the purpose of helping you ask the right questions. When purchasing insurance, you have to ask questions and not feel like the questions you are asking are dumb or do not apply. Further, my vision for the book is that it Further, I hope the book will convey a real-life message to readers before something actually happens to them. Hopefully this book might create a picture in their minds that could save their lives or save them time and money. You as a consumer are purchasing an intangible product when you buy insurance. claims, deny payment altogether, and defend these actions by forcing claimants to enter litigation. Jay M. Feinman, a legal scholar and insurance expert, explains how these trends developed, how the government ought to fix the system, and what the rest of us can do to protect ourselves. He shows that the denial of valid claims is not occasional or accidental or the fault of a few bad employees. It's the result of an increasing and systematic focus on maximizing profits by major companies such as Allstate and State Farm. Citing dozens of stories of victims who were unfairly denied payment,

Feinman explains how people

what to look for and to look out for. There is a great deal you can do right now to cut insurance costs. For example, did you know that installing a theft tracking device in your car can save you up to 35% on your auto insurance and that your credit history can dramatically affect your auto insurance premium. Recent studies have shown that more than 90% of insurers use credit information to create an "insurance risk score," which they then use as a factor to determine your insurance rate. Add a simple home security system to monitor your home, and your insurance rates may be discounted up to 30%.

Eve Rodsky counted up all the unpaid, invisible work she was doing for her family—and then sent that list to her husband, asking for things to change. His response was...underwhelming. Rodsky realized that simply identifying the issue of unequal labor on the home front wasn't enough: She needed a solution to this universal problem. Her sanity, identity, career, and marriage depended on it. The result is Fair Play: a time- and anxiety-saving system that offers couples a completely new way to divvy up domestic responsibilities.
