Facts and Observations Relative to the Participation of American Citizens in the African Slave Trade
1841 Philadelphia Yearly Meeting of the Religious Society of Friends

Exploration of the Seas

2003-11-04 National Research Council In the summer of 1803, Thomas Jefferson sent Meriwether Lewis and William Clark on a journey to establish an American presence in a land of unqualified natural resources and riches. Is it fitting that, on the 200th anniversary of that expedition, the United States, together with international partners, should embark on another journey of exploration in a vastly more extensive region of remarkable potential for discovery. Although the oceans cover more than 70 percent of our planet's surface, much of the ocean has been investigated in only a cursory sense, and many areas have not been investigated at all. Exploration of the Seas assesses the feasibility and potential value of implementing a major, coordinated, international program of ocean exploration and discovery. The study committee surveys national and international ocean programs and strategies for cooperation between governments, institutions, and ocean scientists and explorers, identifying strengths, weaknesses, and gaps in these activities. Based primarily on existing documents, the committee summarizes priority areas for ocean research and exploration and examines existing plans for advancing ocean exploration and knowledge.

Why Has Inflation in the United States Remained So Low? Reassessing the Importance of Labor Costs and the Price of Imports

1999-11-01 Mr. Stephen Tokarick This paper examines some of the factors that have been influential in keeping inflation low in the United States during 1995-98, despite strong growth and high levels of employment. Our results identify three important variables: declines in import prices, a slowdown in the growth of nonwage labor compensation, and a decline in labor costs. We also reassess the role of labor costs and import prices in determining price inflation.

The Tomb of God

1997-08-04 Richard Andrews It began as an intriguing piece of puzzle-solving - and ended with the discovery of the greatest secret of all. Dissatisfied with the explanations of previous researchers, Richard Andrews and Paul Schellenberger applied mathematical logic to the enduring mystery of the Rennes-le-

Chateau and the 'treasure' alleged to be buried there. The quest began with an investigation into the activities of a group of 19th century priests who had become embroiled in the legend. These priests had grown rich because of their involvement and had maintained the anonymity of the paymasters, but in 1993 an extraordinary clue came to light which suggested the priests were engaged in activities at odds with traditional Roman Catholic pastimes. A series of paintings was unearthed which incorporated a cryptic, obscure geometry; a set of interrelating shapes with a very direct link to the priests' habitat and spiritual role. Through the centuries a pattern emerged - a web of concealment on maps, in fine art, on tombstones which defied coincidence and pointed to one very specific location...

The Peabody Picture Vocabulary Test Fourth Edition (PPVT-4) is a well-respected vocabulary evaluation that has been in use for close to 50 years. Created by Lloyd M. Dunn and Douglas M. Dunn, the assessment is made to evaluate receptive vocabulary for American English. It is fast and simple to administer, preserving important time so that focus can be set on applying effective interventions.

The PPVT-4 evaluation subject matter covers a broad array of vocabulary comprehension ranks, ranging from preschool through adult age. The assessment problems broadly include words that depict 20 topic fields (e.g., actions, vegetables, tools), speech parts (nouns, verbs, attributes), and household and educational vocabulary.

The evaluation offers two equal forms which include distinct vocabulary terms, making sure that the test-taker has not “memorized” the assessment. One edition can be employed ahead of intervention implementation to measure people’s vocabulary comprehension and the other edition can be utilized for re-evaluation to evaluate and note advancement. The PPVT-4 also features a special Growth Scale Value (GSV) which is sensitive to minor changes over time.

The Northstar engine, manufactured by General Motors (GM) from 1993 until 2011, was a top-quality 90° V engine series and GM's first production V-8 with overhead camshafts¹. Nonetheless, in spite of its original success, the Northstar engine has been associated with a variety of issues over the years.

One of the most frequent issues is overheating, which can cause substantial destruction to the engine block. An additional problem is oil use, which can cause bad fuel efficiency and pricey repairs. Numerous Northstar engine proprietors also mention issues with head gaskets, which can cause overheating problems and result in expensive repairs.

Particularly, the Northstar engine models from 1993 to 2005 have been reported to have seepage issues, broken seals, harmed head gaskets, extra oil loss, damaged valve cover, defective water pumps, and carbon buildup. These problems are not major, but the price to repair the troubles was significantly larger than the majority of other engines owing to the detailed engineering.

The publication "Analyzing Casual Conversation" by Suzanne Eggins and Diana Slade, originally published in 1997, develops a organized model for the analysis and portrayal of casual conversation in English. The scholars argue that notwithstanding its sometimes aimless appearance and seemingly unstructured substance, casual conversation is a very structured activity and has a critical role in the social construction of reality. The work goes through authentic examples of casual conversations including participants differing in age, gender, ethnicity, and socio-economic class¹².
