The publication “Analyzing Casual Conversation” by Suzanne Eggins and Diana Slade, originally released in 1997, creates a organized model for the examination and depiction of casual conversation in English. The writers argue that notwithstanding its at times aimless look and ostensibly unstructured content, casual conversation is a very structured undertaking and performs a crucial function in the social construction of reality. The publication works through genuine instances of casual conversations including participants differing in age, gender, ethnicity, and socio-economic class12. Deriving on perspectives from sociology, linguistics, and critical semiotics, the work furnishes readers with the examinative skills to depict the levels of structure and critical interpretive frameworks to clarify the ‘social work’ that occurs on through chat.
