The work "Analyzing Casual Conversation" by Suzanne Eggins and Diana Slade, first released in 1997, creates a systematic model for the study and depiction of casual conversation in English. The authors assert that despite its at times aimless appearance and apparently unstructured content, casual conversation is a very structured undertaking and performs a crucial part in the social construction of reality. The work goes through genuine samples of casual conversations involving participants varying in age, gender, ethnicity, and socio-economic class¹². Drawing on insights from sociology, linguistics, and critical semiotics, the publication equips readers with the analytical skills to depict the layers of structure and critical interpretive structures to elucidate the 'social work' that happens on through chat.
