Aspiration

2018-03-01 Agnes Callard Becoming someone is a learning process; and what we learn is the new values around which, if we succeed, our lives will come to turn. Agents transform themselves in the process of, for example, becoming parents, embarking on careers, or acquiring a passion for music or politics. How can such activity be rational, if the reason for engaging in the relevant pursuit is only available to the person one will become? How is it psychologically possible to feel the attraction of a form of concern that is not yet one's own? How can the work done to arrive at the finish line be ascribed to one who doesn't (really) know what one is doing, or why one is doing it? In Aspiration, Agnes Callard asserts that these questions belong to the theory of aspiration. Aspirants are motivated by proleptic reasons, acknowledged defective versions of the reasons they expect to eventually grasp. The psychology of such a transformation is marked by intrinsic conflict between their old point of view on value and the one they are trying to acquire. They cannot adjudicate this conflict by deliberating or choosing or deciding—rather, they resolve it by working to see the world in a new way. This work has a teleological structure: by modeling oneself on the person he or she is trying to be, the aspirant brings that person into being. Because it is open to us to engage in an activity of self-creation, we are responsible for having become the kinds of people we are.

Research Universities and the Future of America

2012-07-08 National Research Council Research Universities and the Future of America presents critically important strategies for ensuring that our nation's research universities contribute strongly to America's prosperity, security, and national goals. Widely considered the best in the world, our nation's research universities today confront significant financial pressures, important advances in technology, a changing demographic landscape, and increased international competition. This report provides a course of action for ensuring our universities continue to produce the knowledge, ideas, and talent the United States needs to be a global leader in the 21st century. Research Universities and the Future of America focuses on strengthening and expanding the partnership among universities and government, business, and philanthropy that has been central to American prosperity and security. The report focuses on the top 10 actions that Congress, the federal government, state governments, research universities, and others could take to strengthen the research and education missions of our research universities, their relationships with other parts of the national research enterprise, and their ability to transfer new knowledge and ideas to those who productively use them in our society and economy. This report examines trends in university finance, prospects for improving university operations, opportunities for deploying technology, and improvement in the regulation of higher education institutions. It also explores ways to improve pathways to graduate education, take advantage of opportunities to increase student diversity, and realign doctoral education for the careers new doctorates will follow. Research Universities and the Future of America is an important resource for policy makers on the federal and state levels, university administrators, philanthropic organizations, faculty, technology transfer specialists, libraries, and researchers.

The Tipping Point

2006-11-01 Malcolm Gladwell From the bestselling author of The Bomber Mafia: discover Malcolm Gladwell's breakthrough debut and explore the science behind viral trends in business, marketing, and human behavior. The tipping point is that magic moment when an idea, trend, or social behavior crosses a threshold, tips, and spreads like wildfire. Just as a single sick person can start an epidemic of the flu, so too can a small but precisely targeted push cause a fashion trend, the popularity of a new product, or a drop in the crime rate. This widely acclaimed bestseller, in which Malcolm Gladwell explores and brilliantly illuminates the tipping point phenomenon, is already changing the way people throughout the world think about selling products and disseminating ideas. "A wonderful page-turner about a fascinating idea that should affect the way every thinking person looks at the world."
—Michael Lewis

The Peabody Picture Vocabulary Test Fourth Edition (PPVT-4) is a widely recognized vocabulary test that has been in practice for almost 50 years. Developed by Lloyd M. Dunn and Douglas M. Dunn, the assessment is made to evaluate receptive vocabulary for American English. It is swift and simple to administer, saving valuable time so that attention can be placed on executing intelligent strategies. The PPVT-4 test material encompasses a wide range of receptive vocabulary grades, extending from pre-kindergarten through adulthood. The assessment items broadly sample words that portray 20 topic fields (e.g., actions, vegetables, tools), parts of speech (nouns, verbs, attributes), and household and educational vocabulary.

The test gives two identical forms which contain different vocabulary items, guaranteeing that the individual has not “mastered” the evaluation. One version can be used before intervention implementation to assess people’s vocabulary comprehension and the other version can be utilized for re-assessment to measure and record improvement. The PPVT-4 also contains a special Growth Scale Value (GSV) which is sensitive to slight changes over time.

Mystery of the Missing Diamond

It was a gloomy and stormy night. The rain was pouring down, and the breeze was howling. In the heart of the town, there was a museum, where a precious diamond was on display. The diamond was called the African Star, and it was the greatest and most beautiful diamond in the world. It was guarded by a sophisticated security mechanism, and a team of armed guards. No one could steal it, or so they assumed. But someone did. Somebody managed to circumvent the protection, to elude the sentinels, to smash the window, and to steal the diamond. And no one saw them, no one heard them, no one knew who they were. They left no sign, no clue, no evidence. They vanished into the nightfall, with the Star of Africa. And the riddle of the vanished diamond started.
