Indian Ethnic Rhinoplasty

2021-08-26 Virendra Ghaisas Each racial and ethnic population has their own nasal characteristics, which need to be considered when planning rhinoplasty surgery. This book is probably the first of its kind in the Indian context highlighting the goal of maintaining ethnic identity congruent with the patient's facial features and establishing Indian standards for gauging the success of the surgery. This is important as most of the rhinoplasty books have addressed these issues of the Caucasian or southeast Asian population and Caucasian normative standards of facial analysis. This book provides a broader understanding of ethnically specific features. It highlights the regional variations within India and their implications for rhinoplasty Surgery, thereby filling the void of lack of knowledge of the intricacies of surgery on Indian noses. It deals with important topics such as preoperative evaluations, determining factors such as thickness and texture of skin along with the various complications that may be encountered. It simplifies and facilitates learning with numerous pre-operative, intra-operative, and postoperative photographs. This book provides a systematic approach to Rhinoplasty surgery in Indian patients with an emphasis on addressing the functional aspects along with the cosmetic aspects. This book is a must-have for trainees in rhinoplasty and plastic surgery courses along with facial plastic surgeons, maxillofacial surgeons, and aesthetic surgeons operating on the Indian population across the globe.

Facial Plastic and Reconstructive Surgery

2020-11-02 Brian J.-F Wong This newly expanded and updated second edition helps facial plastic surgery fellows and advanced residents in otolaryngology/head and neck surgery find the answers they're looking for when preparing to take the American Board of Facial Plastic and Reconstructive Surgery exam. evidence that even after such differences are accounted for, race and ethnicity remain significant predictors of the quality of health care received. In Unequal Treatment, a panel of experts documents this evidence and explores how persons of color experience the health care environment. The book examines how disparities in treatment may arise in health care systems and looks at aspects of the clinical encounter that may contribute to such disparities. Patients' and providers' attitudes, expectations, and behavior are analyzed. How to intervene? Unequal Treatment offers recommendations for improvements in medical care financing, allocation of care, availability of language translation, community-based care, and other arenas. The committee highlights the potential of cross-cultural education to improve provider-patient communication and offers a detailed look at how to integrate cross-cultural learning within the health professions. The book concludes with recommendations for data collection and research initiatives. Unequal Treatment will be vitally important to health care policymakers, administrators, providers, educators, and students as well as advocates for people of color.

Formulated by Lloyd M. Dunn and Douglas M. Dunn, the test is crafted to assess vocabulary comprehension for Standard American English. It is swift and easy to administer, preserving important time so that concentration can be put on applying intelligent interventions.

The PPVT-4 assessment content covers a wide array of receptive vocabulary ranks, ranging from preschool through adult age. The evaluation questions broadly include words that depict 20 content domains (e.g., actions, vegetables, tools), parts of speech (nouns, verbs, attributes), and home and school vocabulary.

The assessment offers two identical forms which contain different vocabulary items, guaranteeing that the person has not "memorized" the assessment. One version can be used ahead of intervention implementation to assess people's vocabulary knowledge and the alternative edition can be used for re-testing to assess and note improvement. The PPVT-4 also includes a special Growth Scale Value (GSV) which is sensitive to minor changes with time.
