The Important Book

1990-03-10 Margaret Wise Brown The important thing about The Important Book -- is that you let your child tell you what is important about the sun and the moon and the wind and the rain and a bug and a bee and a chair and a table and a pencil and a bear and a rainbow and a cat (if he wants to). For the important thing about The Important Book is that the book goes on long after it is closed. What is most important about many familiar things -- like rain and wind, apples and daisies -- is suggested in rhythmic words and vivid pictures. 'A perfect book . . . the text establishes a word game which tiny children will accept with glee.' -- K.

Wait Till the Moon Is Full

1989-11-15 Margaret Wise Brown There was once a little raccoon who wanted to go out in the night -- to know an owl, to see if the moon is a rabbit, and to find out how dark is the dark. But his mother said, "Wait. Wait till the moon is full." So the little raccoon waited and wondered, while the moon got bigger and bigger and bigger. Until at last, on a very special evening, the moon was full.

The Woman in the Moon

2023-03-14 Richard Maurer A stunning and intimate biography of Margaret Hamilton, the computer engineer who helped Apollo 11 and mankind get from the Earth to the moon. First-hand accounts, exclusive interviews with the legendary Margaret Hamilton, and detailed science populate the pages of this remarkable biography. In 1969, mankind successfully left our atmosphere and landed on the moon. It took countless hours of calculations, training, wonder, and sacrifice from all of the men and women who worked hard to make that landing. One of those people was Margaret Hamilton. A young computer engineer, Hamilton was hired to develop the completely new software used in the groundbreaking Apollo Space Program. Soon she became the lead engineer, one of the few women in the almost entirely male-dominated profession. But it wasn't always easy. In The Woman in the Moon, science-writer and journalist Richard Maurer (Destination Moon, 2019) dives deep into the backstory of this extraordinary woman. With first-hand interviews and access to primary sources, this striking biography perfectly captures the exciting atmosphere of the Space Race and the inspiring figure of Margaret Hamilton.

Marketing the Moon

2014-02-28 David Meerman Scott One of the most successful public relations campaigns in history, featuring heroic astronauts, press-savvy rocket scientists, enthusiastic reporters, deep-pocketed defense contractors, and Tang. In July 1969, ninety-four percent of American televisions were tuned to coverage of Apollo 11's mission to the moon. How did space exploration, once the purview of rocket scientists, reach a larger audience than My Three Sons? Why did a government program whose standard operating procedure had been secrecy turn its greatest achievement into a communal experience? In Marketing the Moon, David Meerman Scott and Richard Jurek tell the story of one of the most successful marketing and public relations campaigns in history: the selling of the Apollo program. Primed by science fiction, magazine articles, and appearances by Wernher von Braun on the "Tomorrowland" segments of the Disneyland prime time television show, Americans were a receptive audience for NASA's pioneering "brand journalism." Scott and Jurek describe sophisticated efforts by NASA and its many contractors to market the facts about space travel--through press releases, bylined articles, lavishly detailed background materials, and fully produced radio and television features--rather than push an agenda. American astronauts, who signed exclusive agreements with Life magazine, became the heroic and patriotic faces of the program. And there was some judicious product placement: Hasselblad was the "first camera on the moon"; Sony cassette recorders and supplies of Tang were on board the capsule; and astronauts were equipped with the Exer-Genie personal exerciser. Everyone wanted a place on the bandwagon. Generously illustrated with vintage photographs, artwork, and advertisements, many never published before, Marketing the Moon shows that when Neil Armstrong took that giant leap for mankind, it was a triumph not just for American engineering and rocketry but for American marketing and public relations.

The Human Factor in the Settlement of the Moon

2021-11-19 Margaret Boone Rappaport Approaching the settlement of our Moon from a practical perspective, this book is well suited for space program planners. It addresses a variety of human factor topics involved in colonizing Earth's Moon, including: history, philosophy, science, engineering, agriculture, medicine, politics & policy, sociology, and anthropology. Each chapter identifies the complex, interdisciplinary issues of the human factor that arise in the early phases of settlement on the Moon. Besides practical issues, there is some emphasis placed on preserving, protecting, and experiencing the lunar environment across a broad range of occupations, from scientists to soldiers and engineers to construction workers. The book identifies utilitarian and visionary factors that shape human lives on the Moon. It offers recommendations for program planners in the government and commercial sectors and serves as a helpful resource for academic researchers. Together, the coauthors ask and attempt to answer: "How will lunar society be different?"

Margaret and the Moon

2017-05-16 Dean Robbins A true story from one of the Women of NASA! Margaret Hamilton loved numbers as a young girl. She knew how many miles it was to the moon (and how many back). She loved studying algebra and geometry and calculus and using math to solve problems in the outside world. Soon math led her to MIT and then to helping NASA put a man on the moon! She handwrote code that would allow the spacecraft's computer to solve any problems it might encounter. Apollo 8. Apollo 9. Apollo 10. Apollo 11. Without her code, none of those missions could have been completed. Dean Robbins and Lucy Knisley deliver a lovely portrayal of a pioneer in her field who never stopped reaching for the stars.

The Northstar engine, created by General Motors (GM) from 1993 until 2011, was a top-quality 90° V engine range and GM's first production V-8 with overhead camshafts¹. Nonetheless, despite its original achievement, the Northstar engine has been connected with a variety of issues over the years.

One of the most frequent problems is getting too hot, which can cause considerable harm to the engine block. An additional issue is oil consumption, which can cause bad fuel efficiency and pricey repairs. Many Northstar engine owners also note issues with head gaskets, which can result in getting too hot troubles and cause costly repairs.

Specifically, the Northstar engine versions from 1993 to 2005 have been reported to have seepage issues, broken seals, broken head gaskets, additional oil loss, broken valve cover, malfunctioning water pumps, and carbon accumulation. These troubles are not major, but the cost to repair the problems was significantly greater than most other engines because of the intricate engineering.

Formulated by Lloyd M. Dunn and Douglas M. Dunn, the test is designed to assess vocabulary comprehension for American English. It is fast and effortless to administer, conserving important time so that concentration can be put on applying effective interventions.

The PPVT-4 assessment content covers a wide range of vocabulary comprehension grades, spanning from pre-kindergarten through adult age. The evaluation items extensively sample words that represent 20 topic fields (e.g., actions, vegetables, tools), parts of speech (nouns, verbs, attributes), and household and educational vocabulary.

The assessment offers two equal editions which hold various vocabulary items, making sure that the test-taker has not “mastered” the assessment. One form can be utilized ahead of intervention implementation to assess individuals’ vocabulary comprehension and the second version can be utilized for re-testing to measure and record improvement. The PPVT-4 also features a distinctive Growth Scale Value (GSV) which is reactive to slight changes in time.
