George Westinghouse

2022-02-03 William R. Huber While most know Thomas Edison for his invention of the light bulb, his counterpart, George Westinghouse, is too often overlooked. Westinghouse, however, became known as one of the most prolific inventors and businessmen of the Industrial Revolution. This biography reveals the man whose teachers suspected was mentally disabled and who quit college after one semester, yet founded more than 60 different companies employing 50,000 people, and received 361 U.S. patents. He later fought the "Battle of the Currents" (AC vs. DC) with Thomas Edison and won. Westinghouse, with his engineers, provided power and light for the 1893 World's Columbian Exposition in Chicago. They harnessed the massive power of Niagara Falls and sent it over wires to light Buffalo and eventually the Northeast. His electric engines powered trains, and his air brakes stopped them. His scientific contributions forever changed the world.

Ebook: Auditing & Assurance Services

2014-10-16 Timothy Louwers Auditors are trained to investigate beyond appearances to determine the underlying facts—in other words, to look beneath the surface. The recent financial crisis has made this skill even more crucial to the business community. As a result of this recent crisis and of the financial statement accounting scandals that occurred at the turn of the century, understanding the auditor's responsibility related to fraud, maintaining a clear perspective, probing for details, and understanding the big picture are indispensable to effective auditing. The author team of Louwers, Ramsay, Sinason, Strawser, and Thibodeau has dedicated years of experience in the auditing field to this new edition of Auditing & Assurance Services, supplying the necessary investigative tools for future auditors.

Applications in Electronics Pervading Industry, Environment and Society— Industrial Electronics and Cyber Physical Systems

2021-09-02 Sergio Saponara This book features the manuscripts accepted for the Special Issue "Applications in Electronics Pervading Industry, Environment and Society—Sensing Systems and Pervasive Intelligence" of the MDPI journal Sensors. Most of the papers come from a selection of the best papers of the 2019 edition of the "Applications in Electronics Pervading Industry, Environment and Society" (APPLEPIES) Conference, which was held in November 2019. All these papers have been significantly enhanced with novel experimental results. The papers give an overview of the trends in research and development activities concerning the pervasive application of electronics in industry, the environment, and society. The focus of these papers is on cyber physical systems (CPS), with research proposals for new sensor acquisition and ADC (analog to digital converter) methods, high-speed communication systems, cybersecurity, big data management, and data processing including emerging machine learning techniques. Physical implementation aspects are discussed as well as the trade-off found between functional performance and hardware/system costs.

The book “Analyzing Casual Conversation” by Suzanne Eggins and Diana Slade, originally released in 1997, develops a systematic model for the analysis and portrayal of casual conversation in English. The writers assert that notwithstanding its occasionally aimless appearance and seemingly unstructured content, casual conversation is an extremely structured undertaking and has a vital part in the social building of reality. The publication proceeds through real examples of casual conversations including participants varying in age, gender, ethnicity, and socio-economic class¹². Deriving on perspectives from sociology, linguistics, and critical semiotics, the book equips readers with the analytic skills to depict the levels of structure and critical interpretive frameworks to elucidate the ‘social work’ that goes on through chat.
