The Peabody Picture Vocabulary Test Fourth Edition (PPVT-4) is a highly regarded vocabulary evaluation that has been in practice for almost half a century. Formulated by Lloyd M. Dunn and Douglas M. Dunn, the test is made to measure receptive vocabulary for American English. It is fast and easy to administer, conserving precious time so that focus can be placed on implementing effective interventions.

The PPVT-4 evaluation material includes a wide scope of receptive vocabulary levels, spanning from pre-kindergarten through adult age. The evaluation questions extensively sample words that depict 20 topic domains (e.g., actions, vegetables, tools), parts of speech (nouns, verbs, attributes), and household and school vocabulary.

The test offers two identical forms which include different vocabulary items, ensuring that the individual has not “mastered” the evaluation. One version can be utilized before intervention implementation to measure test-takers’ vocabulary understanding and the second version can be utilized for re-testing to measure and document improvement. The PPVT-4 also contains a special Growth Scale Value (GSV) which is responsive to small changes over time.

No one could steal it, or so they thought. But somebody did. An individual succeeded to get around the safeguard, to avoid the watchmen, to break the window, and to steal the diamond. And no one saw them, no one listened to them, no one recognized who they were. They departed from no trace, no lead, no evidence. They faded into the darkness, with the Star of Africa. And the mystery of the missing diamond began.

Born into the Thembu royal family, he was bestowed with the name Rolihlahla, meaning “troublemaker” in Xhosa. Mandelas upbringing unfolded amidst a backdrop of racial inequality, where he witnessed firsthand the unjust treatment inflicted upon the Black majority by the ruling white minority government.
