The book “Analyzing Casual Conversation” by Suzanne Eggins and Diana Slade, first released in 1997, creates a methodical model for the examination and portrayal of casual conversation in English. The authors contend that notwithstanding its at times aimless seeming and apparently unstructured material, casual conversation is a extremely structured activity and has a crucial function in the social building of reality. The book goes through genuine examples of casual conversations including participants diverging in age, gender, ethnicity, and socio-economic class<sup>12</sup>. Pulling on understandings from sociology, linguistics, and critical semiotics, the book provides readers with the examinative skills to portray the levels of structure and critical interpretive structures to clarify the ‘social work’ that occurs on through chat.
