The work "Analyzing Casual Conversation" by Suzanne Eggins and Diana Slade, originally published in 1997, develops a systematic model for the analysis and depiction of casual conversation in English. The scholars assert that in spite of its occasionally aimless seeming and ostensibly unstructured content, casual conversation is a very structured activity and has a critical role in the social building of reality. The book proceeds through genuine examples of casual conversations entailing participants varying in age, gender, ethnicity, and socio-economic class¹². Pulling on understandings from sociology, linguistics, and critical semiotics, the work equips readers with the examinative skills to describe the layers of structure and critical interpretive models to explain the 'social work' that occurs on through chat.
